Building in Gundalpet Taluq

The temple is in a dilapidated condition. The roof is not watertight, the floor has a metal concrete inside of the temple is very damp and the paint is very much cracked. The agragara in front of the temple has come down, at one walls to a height of about 4 ft on three sides only remain. The cow room is quite unfit for the use for which it is intended, half wall of the building which is made of concrete & the other portion half with the cement is partly washed as all the rain water finds way into the room. The cow and another room called bull & dipa seem to be additions to the original building & the structure is not so strong as that of the temple. They are in a state of susceptible of improvement. The cupola or Gopura of the front has no branch or tulasi. The two flights of compound wall on either side in front of the temple is built of stone in mud which is very unsightly.

The temple built is itself but a one hardly accommodate pilgrims who visit the hill in large numbers in the course of the year. As the name of the hill denotes, there is shortage of water all round. Hence much difficulty is experienced by pilgrims for want of water.

The temple therefore requires to be

Sir,

In Government order no: 1185-6 Revr F. 29-93 of the 17th June 1895, an estimate for Rs 3870 has been sanctioned for the repair of the Himavat-gopalaswami temple on the hill of that name in the Gundalpet Taluk, but the Amildar reports that owing to the great distance of the place from Mysore, whence the materials for the repair have to be taken and the dearness of labour in the isolated jungle hill track where the temple is, and also to the difficulty of removing the materials to the hill-top, no workmen came forward to undertake the work at the rates allowed in the estimate, and submits, after due enquiry, the enclosed revised estimate for Rs 4363 providing slightly increased rates.—

considering great labour in removal of the materials from the foot to the hill top on account of the steepness of the ascent, the increased rates asked for seem necessary, and I therefore beg to recommend the revised estimate for sanction. The sanctioned estimate is also enclosed.

Inspection notes

In obedience to your orders, I proceeded to, and inspected the repairs now being done to Hiravath gopalaswamy's temple Gundul pett dated 30th August 1897, and with reference to the same, I beg to report that the items mentioned hereunder are very unsatisfactorily done, and require to be rectified in the manner explained under each item viz:-

Compound wall. This wall has been raised with stone in mud contrary to the provisions made in the estimate, and has already come down in a few places, owing to defective work.

the wall ought to be dismantled and rebuilt, as per estimate with stone in mortar observing carefully, that the face work of the wall shall consist of headers and stretchers alternately, and the hearting carefully filled in with rectangular stones neatly bonded with themselves, and the face work, and the stones of the course below

2 (Repairing roof. This has been done merely by patching up damaged portion of the plaster of the roof here and there contrary to the estimate, and hence the roof has again become leaky. On the other hand, the whole of the old coat of plaster together with the old concrete of 3" inches, should be removed if possible, and a fresh coat of concrete and plaster applied on the surface thus obtained after dismantling. Considering the

for concreting and plastering &c, I would here beg to state, that two coats of flat tiles laid in mortar, with plastering on top would make the roof more water-tight.

3 Gopuram repairs. The patching of plastering here and there is also followed in this case, and on enquiry I was informed, that the repairs to ornamental work, have not as yet been started for want of professional men. A liberal provision of Rs 200/- has been made in the estimate against this item, and accordingly the plastering of the whole of the gopuram should be renewed, and the ornamental work and the idols worked up true, to satisfaction. A sum of rupees 50/- would be a reasonable amount for the repairs of such a small gopuram, if only certain repairs are done to it

In conclusion, I beg to state that in consequence of the most liberal rates allowed on almost all the items in the estimate, the quality of work turned out ought to be of a better nature, and more so, considering that an additional allowance of Rs 200 and 100 are respectively made in the estimate viz (1) for forming cart tracks for the conveyance of materials (2) for temporary sheds for labor
